

RUBEN FASANI

Ruben was born in Argentina in 1960. He studied at the National School of Ceramics, where he received the degree of Artistic Ceramics Technician. In 1991 he traveled throughout Japan and Europe for six months, visiting the principal centers in ceramics and glass, where he exchanged ideas, influences and experiences. Having worked primarily with stoneware and sculpture, Ruben integrated fused glass into his repertoire of skills and has been creating works in this medium since 1996.

Ruben works with flat glass (float glass), fusing different layers and shapes on a lost cast, obtaining an individual touch to each piece. He likes to discover and experiment with the many characteristics and possibilities glass has to offer, such as transparency, texture or malleability and how these elements relate to his concepts. His current figurative works include lost wax casting techniques, as well as fused glass techniques.
