

Spencer Watson

Spencer Watson creates images and sculptural "heads" on individually hand-picked stones by using hand cut stencils and a sand-blasting process. His pieces evoke a primitive beauty with style and humor. The stones are great as stand-alone sculptures or are wonderful in groups.

Spencer is originally from Michigan. He has a business background and a strong entrepreneurial spirit. He founded and ran two successful businesses: one in construction and the other installing office furniture in the Chicago area.

Spencer decided to join his wife Mary, a jewelry artist, in artistic endeavors by creating small sand-blasted carvings on beach stones which she then incorporated into her jewelry. Eventually his work grew to larger sculptures which have proven to be greatly appreciated and are still selling well to this day. Mary and "Spence" have been making and selling their art together as Silver Stone Handcrafted since 1992.
